We are not just another pen pal website. INTROS INCARCERATED was inspired by us and created for us, so that prisoners can network with people on the outside for friendship, romance, legal and professional purposes. We genuinely care about prisoners and believe that every individual deserves a sense of connection and community, regardless of their circumstances.

They can write or email as many or as few inmates as they prefer. They may use our paid message box and we will send (YOU) a message on their behalf if they prefer to keep their contact information private.

Lifetime Likelihood of Imprisonment

Source: Bonczar, T. (2003). Prevalence of Imprisonment in the U.S. Population, 1974-2001. Washington, D.C.: Bureau of Justice Statistics.

In the United States we have an epidemic of mass incarceration. There are close to 2 million people currently behind bars. About every 1 in 7 has a life sentence.

It is not uncommon for prisoners to lose friends and family during their incarceration. Less than a third of people in state prisons receive a visit from a loved one in a typical month.

Most people (63%) in state prison are locked up over 100 miles from their families. The number of people receiving visits decreases as the distance from home increases.

The limited availability of mental health services, programs, employment and resources, as well as the oppressive nature of prison in general, often results in prisoners feeling isolated and disconnected from the world.

At INTROS INCARCERATED, we want our incarcerated community to thrive despite their current confinement.

Connecting with people outside of prison helps prisoners relieve loneliness and improve their mental health.

Engaging in correspondence can also help prisoners develop new interests, communicate more effectively and solve problems.

Having even one person on the other side of the wall can help a prisoner reflect on their life and foster a sense of responsibility and inspire positive change.

All these skills are valuable for rehabilitation and reintegration into society.

By being part of the INTROS INCARCERATED community, you help us cultivate a culture of awareness, compassion, and change.
